The Land of Dreams.

BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT. A mighty realm is the land of dreams.

RDS printed in the highest style of the art.

With steeps that hang in the twilight sky, And weltering oceans and trailing streams, That gleam where the dusky valleys lie. But over its shadowy border flow

Sweet rays from the world of endless morn, And the nearer mountains catch the glow, And flowers in the nearer fields are born.

The wools of the happy dead repair From their bowers of light to that border land, And walk in the fainter glory there, With the souls of the living hand in hand.

One calm, sweet smile, in that shadowy sphere From eyes that open on earth no more-One warning word from a voice once dear, How they rise in the memory o'er and o'er.

Far off from those hills that shine with day

And fields that bloom in the heavenly gales, The Land of Dreams goes stretching away To dimmer mountains and darker vales There lie the chambers of guilty delight, There walk the spectres of guilty fear,

And soft, low voices that float through the night, Are whispering sin in the hopeless ear. Bear maid, in thy girlhood's opening flowers, Scarce weaned from the love of childish play ;

The tears on whose cheek are but the showers That freshen the early bloom of May ! Thine eyes are closed, and over thy brow Pass thoughtful shadows and joyous gleams, Thy spirit strays in the Land of Dreams. Light-hearted maiden, oh heed thy feet ! Oh, keep where the beam of Paradise falls, And only wander where thou mayst meet The blessed ones from its shining walls.

And I know, by the moving lips, that now

So shalt thou come from the Land of Dreams With love and peace to this world of strife; And the light which over the border streams Shall lie on the path of thy daily life.

Texas man got mad because a waiter handed him a napkin the other day. He said he " reckoned he know'd when to use a han'kercher without havin' no hints throwd out." Said a bright little daughter of three summers: "Papa, what is a picnic?" Papa. A party in the woods, dear." Daughter. But what do they pick?" Papa, "My darling, they pick nix.'

An exchange says a St. Joseph, Mo., girl recently refused a wealthy suitor because he ate beans with a knife. That's what he gets for going back on his fingers; but he wonders if she wanted him to eat 'em with a shovel. The world is full of trouble, but you dodge a great deal of it if you only try. The difficulty with many people is that they hold a magnifying glass over their griefs, and then pull the curtain down when the sun tries to come out. Now that the telephone makes it possible for sounds to be canned the same as beef, milk, lobsters, fruit etc., missionary sermons can be bottled and sent to the South Sea Islands, ready for the table, instead of the missionary him-"The girls of our day are very badly educated," said one of the members of a committee on education to the Bishop of Gloucester. "That cannot be denied," retorted his lordship; "how-wo quarter sections of land they were divorced; ach pre-empted a claim, and as soon as their laims were made good they, were re-married, aus obtaining 320 acres of land.

A Dutchman in Canada was relating his narvelous escape from drowning, when thirteen of his companions were lost by the upsetting of a boat, and he alone was saved. " And how id you escape from their fate?" asked one of his hearers. "I tid not co in te same pote," was the Dutchman's placid answer.

A traveler in Western Iowa, while riding long, came to a large sign which implored him to "look out for the locomotive." He accordingly rode down the track for a better view, and while he was obligingly "looking out" for it, it came along. He saw it, but had to sit in the ditch and wait till a freight train of thirty-seven cars passed by before he could get back to the other piece of his horse .- Burlington

"I don't object," said the Quartermaster on anday morning while our ship was running bward the equator before the northeast trade ind, "I don't object to prayers when it blows hurricane or when we are on a lee shore; but here we are called aft to prayers when the weather is as fine as ever was made fair winds every day: a clear sun at noon; skysails, stud-ling sails and everything else set: not a brace or heet unbelayed for weeks : the ship going ahead so steady that she could carry a glass of sherry on that capstan and not spill a drop of it. But prayers it is, according to orders! Now what's the good of it?"

" Lying, like other arts and sciences, keeps pace with our education, refinement and culture, and is fast becoming familiarized to the American people. Though I have classed it with the arts and sciences, and although there is something artistic in the construction of a good lie, and notwithstanding that a good, square, solid lie is Pancy Goods. (nol7 ly) No. 11 Kashumanu St. Honolulu a scientific triumph, still I am of the opion that lying should more properly be considered as an accomplishment. A 'gentlemanly accomplishment' it was once designated by a Nevada newspaper. And yet. I have seen men who possessed the accomplishment in the highest degree of perfection, and still were not gentlemen. That, however, does not prove or premise that gentlemen cannot lie."

Oh, he was a sweet young, lithesome man, And he moved with a tender grace; And a smile like the sweep of an angel's wing. Played over his fair young face.

ANTISTROPE. "I bring," he said, and the editor bowed, For he loved the sweet young thing;
"I bring," he murmured, "a poet's song,
A lay of the balmy Spring."

CLINAX.

Then the editor gathered his cross-cut saw.

And the nail grab, all the same: The big sledge-hammer, the long crowbar, And the club with the terrible name.

CATASTROPE.

He sawed him in two, and he flattened him out; He tore out each quivering lung; He pinned him up to the sanctum wall,

So scattered, and yet so young.
